Re: Hope for Harlots

Dear Rahab and Mary:

Greetings! I hope this letter finds you well. I am writing to reach out to you and others in our community who may be facing challenging circumstances, particularly those involved in sex work. It is our sincere desire to share the message of hope and renewal found in Jesus Christ. Enclosed with this letter, you will find copies of relevant Gospel tracts. I kindly ask for your support in distributing them within your networks, as they could offer comfort and guidance to those who are searching for it.

Many individuals may feel condemned by society for their past choices, but Jesus does not condemn; rather, He offers an unconditional love that invites everyone to start anew. Embracing this message can lead to profound transformation, bringing joy, peace, and the chance of a brighter future.

I encourage you and your peers to consider the possibilities that a new lifestyle can offer. By seeking a relationship with Jesus, we can become powerful testimonies of change, showing that it is never too late to find hope and redemption. With God, we can uplift one another and build a community rooted in love and acceptance.

Please know that you are not alone, and that a path to a fulfilling life is available to you. God loves you! Blessings!

With hope,

John Dela Cruz
